SPIRITUALITY IN EDUCATION - COMPASSION AND KINDNESS

Education of Change

In this very fast moving time of our modern life, man needs to maintain a healthy balance in life, for which the education or the technique of change is a crucial factor. The New Education Policy that calls for certain significant and all-round changes needs the strong foundations of spirituality if the desired change must be attained smoothly. Spiritual education acts as an indispensable basis.

But we must also realize that so long as the true meaning of education – from darkness to light – which inspires one to rise above the blind-faith and superstition, is not established and accepted, man cannot be free from the slavery of dogma and ignorance.

In the present scenario of a different social, political and economic perspective, education needs a substantial improvement in its status and direction so that it can easily adopt the need and process of change. The Govt. has set up some 'evaluation centers of education' so that in future, schools and colleges impart value and spiritual education. People connected with the job of imparting education also need to update and sharpen their related skills. It is the responsibility of every teacher that a flower-like child's petals should open and bloom into a fragrant flower.

Hence it is almost essential, rather mandatory, that our teachers must have the qualities and virtues of compassion and kindness. At such a time Prajapita Brahma Kumaris Ishwariya Vishwa Vidyalaya has taken up the development of our education system and advocates the incorporation of values and spirituality in the normal course of education at all levels.

Spirituality in Education : Compassion and Kindness

Prajapita Brahma Kumaris Ishwariya Vishwa Vidyalaya and its sister organization Rajyoga Education and Research Foundation (RE&RF) have prepared an extensive programme of including Values and Spirituality in the normal courses of education being imparted in our schools and colleges. This programme has been forwarded to the government of India and has also been initiated in many universities of the country. Even during the academic year of 2022, the Education Wing of the RE&RF is organizing an International Conference on 'Spirituality in Education : Compassion and Kindness'. The Education Wing of the Brahma Kumaris is determined at this national occasion of Azadi ke Amrit Mahotsav to eradicate all the problems in human society through Values and Spirituality in our normal system of education.
